

Delivering sustainable value through next-generation procurement

Power the future for what comes next.
KPMG Powered Enterprise|Procurement.

As a procurement leader, you want to become a business partner within your organization, deliver cost savings, improve efficiency, improve compliance, and facilitate your company's growth and transformation agenda. Yet, many organizations are hampered by inefficient and fragmented processes and a lack of spend transparency sitting atop an aging technology infrastructure. When overly absorbed with tactical execution, procurement organizations miss valuable strategic opportunities that align with the company's priorities.

Transforming your procurement organization means instilling leading practices and investing in supporting flexible technologies that can be adapted to evolving needs. The resulting organization is equipped to achieve business goals, deploy fit-for-purpose processes, analyze real-time information, and quickly generate return on investment (ROI). KPMG Powered Procurement deploys the processes, organization, and technology to support your enterprise on the journey to cope with the digital world.

Transform your procurement organization with KPMG insights and Coupa technology

We help clients drive sustainable change across the enterprise by incorporating decades of procurement transformation experience with cloud-based technologies. KPMG Powered Procurement creates next-generation procurement organizations that provide greater insight, control, and flexibility without the burden of a long implementation time line—fast and sustainable. Templates and preconfigured software instances are tailored to specific needs and business goals and help our clients to drive sustainable change across the enterprise. With KPMG Powered Procurement, organizations can quickly transform, realize a rapid ROI, and promptly deliver value to the business.

KPMG Powered Procurement is built on Coupa's leading cloud-based, spend management platform that supports the entire source-to-pay process—including contracts, inventory, sourcing, and supplier management. Coupa's integrated suite provides visibility to analyze enterprise-wide spend and make effective sourcing decisions, all while delivering transactional efficiencies via automation.

Clients benefit from a global KPMG network of experienced Coupa design and implementation professionals who coordinate quickly and deliver procurement controls, intelligent automation, invoice optimization, organizational design, and tax processes to collectively drive value for the organization. Because supplier and user adoption is essential for our clients' long-term success, KPMG focuses heavily on stakeholder management and user training as well as providing a supplier onboarding process to help ensure maximum participation.

Is KPMG Powered Procurement right for you?

If you answer "yes" to any of these questions, then KPMG Powered Procurement could be a good fit for your organization.

- Has business growth left you with a mix of systems, processes, and operating models?
- Have you experienced procurement system upgrade or usage issues over the last 18 months? Is your current system so cumbersome that users prefer to find alternative buying mechanisms?
- Are you struggling to provide the business with requested spend analytics regularly?
- Do you create purchase orders after you receive invoices?
- Do organizational stakeholders commit funds without authorization?
- Do suppliers regularly call your AP department to inquire about invoice status?
- Do you have the ambition to run an industry-leading procurement organization?

Faster time to value with KPMG Powered Procurement

KPMG Powered Procurement accelerates the speed to value for your transformation. Predefined data mappings to common enterprise resource planning suites speeds integration design and development. Thorough design and configuration libraries drive robust and accelerated design decisions in line with leading practices; standard commodity taxonomies, sourcing templates, and Web forms speed decision making and reduce the time required for implementation.
